

The National Posture Institute does not provide specific coding or legal advice. Healthcare providers who seek reimbursement for use of the MTAP test should follow the direction of coding and legal experts familiar with the policies of the specific third party from whom they seek reimbursement. It is the health care practitioners responsibility to document medical necessity of services rendered. The National Posture Institute provides the medical necessity general guidance, access to MTAP software, reporting and documentation related to measured function.